Pasadena, California, December 10.—Further action to obtain the release of W. S. Windham and J. M. Dunn, former Pasadena citizens, held by Constitutionalists in Sinaloa, Mexico, was taken today when the local Board of Trade telegraphed to Secretary of State Bryan as follows:

"Nine days have elapsed and no word has yet been received from W. S. Windham, former cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, who is held in Mexico for ransom. We would earnestly request that further action be taken immediately to insure his release." Two weeks ago Windham got a message through stating that he and Dunn were being held for a ransom of $5,000 gold. Carranza ordered their release ten days ago according to messages from Hermosillo, but nothing has been heard to indicate that the men have been set free.

WOULD DEPOSE KING ALCOHOL

Washington, Dec. 10.—More than 2,000 men and women, representing the Anti-Saloon League of America and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, marched in separate bodies to the Capitol today, bearing petitions demanding national prohibition by constitutional amendment.

Brigadier General A. S. Daggett acted as grand marshal of the men's procession, while the women were headed by Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens of Maine, president general of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The demonstration took place at 10 o'clock at the east front of the Capitol. There Representative Hobson of Alabama, author of the proposed constitutional amendment, received the petitions on behalf of the house of representatives, and Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas acted for the senate. Addressees were made on behalf of the committee of 1,000 by Ernest H. Cherrington of Westerville, O., editor of the official organ of the Anti-Saloon league, and by former Governor M. R. Paterson of Tennessee. Afterwards the reasons for a constitutional amendment from the women's standpoint were presented by Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, president of the New York state Woman's Christian Temperance union, and Mrs. Mary Harris Armor of Georgia.

Plans for the demonstration were inaugurated at a meeting recently at Columbus of the Anti-Saloon League of America, when resolutions in favor of national prohibition were adopted and the committee of 1,000 appointed to urge congress to adopt the proposed constitutional amendment.

A subcommittee had completed the draft of a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution. Representative Hobson and Senator Sheppard will introduce the resolution in the two houses of congress.

The preamble recites that "exact scientific research has demonstrated that alcohol is a narcotic poison, destructive and degenerating to the human organism, and that its distribution as a beverage or when contained in food lays a staggering economic burden upon the shoulders of the people, lowers to an appalling degree the average standard of character of our citizenship, thereby undermining the public morals and the foundation of free institutions; produces widespread crime, pauperism and insanity, inflicts disease and untimely death upon hundreds of thousands of citizens and blights with degeneracy their children unborn, threatening the future integrity and the very life of the nation."

The resolution would propose a constitutional amendment to forever prohibit the sale, manufacture for sale, transportation for sale, importation for sale of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes, but empowering congress to provide for the manufacture, sale, importation and transportation of liquors for sacramental, medicinal and other purposes.

GUARDING AGAINST CROUP.
The best safeguard against croup is a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house. P. H. Ginn, Middleton, Ga., writes: "My children are very susceptible to croup, easily catch cold. I give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and in every instance they get prompt relief and are soon cured. We keep it at home and prevent croup." Blackmer & Tanquary.

A HARD NUT TO CRACK.

SAYS PAID $7000 ELECTION IS VOID FOR "INFLUENCE" HUERTA HANGS ON

New York, Dec. 10.—James E. Gaffney was pushed to the front in the highway graft investigation. He is the partner of the Tammany Hall leader's brother, John J. Murphy, in the contracting business. He is reputed to be worth several million dollars. Governor Sulzer said he was impeached because he refused to appoint Mr. Gaffney commissioner of highways at the suggestion of Mr. Murphy.

John M. Murphy, a contractor, testified before Chief Magistrate McAdoo in the John Doe proceedings that he paid to Gaffney and Joseph D. Carroll more than $7,000 to get contracts from the highways department. He swore that Gaffney never did a thing to earn the money. He said he paid it to him merely because he thought Gaffney's influence would help him at Albany. Carroll died last year. He was the general manager and treasurer of the firm of Fiss, Boer & Carroll, horse dealers. For many years this company held a monopoly in the sale of horses to the city. In 10 years the city paid more than $2,000,000 to the firm. Mr. Carroll was the close friend of Charles F. Murphy.

The action of the congress in annulling the election was based on the failure of the majority districts to make returns on Oct. 26. Only 7,167 districts sent in returns out of a possible 14,000, and of these 425 were declared legal. The constitution requires that more than one-half of the districts send in legal returns, and the election is for that reason declared null and void.

The action of congress in decreeing that General Huerta may retain the presidency is contrary to the constitutional provisions, which stipulate that no provisional president may retain power longer than 11 months.

When the congress assembled 156 members were present, and the resolution fixing the date of the new elections and authorizing Huerta to remain in power was passed unanimously. Ten members of the Catholic party, however, left the hall before the rollcall.

There is the keenest expectation in the capital as to what will be the attitude of President Wilson following the action taken by congress.

PAYING TRIAL EXPENSES.

Mrs. Jennie Eaton has appealed to Governor Foss to have the state of Massachusetts reimburse her for the expenses of her trial upon the charge of poisoning Rear Admiral Eaton. It is difficult to see why the state should not pay the trial expenses of every individual who has been tried upon a criminal charge and acquitted.

In civil suits, the loser in the court trial is compelled to pay the costs upon the theory that he should have settled his obligations and kept out of the court. It is possible there for a litigant who has been forced into court unjustly to secure reimbursement for his expenses and to avoid pecuniary loss. In criminal trials, however, the accused has no recourse.

Under the mistaken theory that the government can do no wrong, the accused is hauled into court, forced to employ counsel and incur other expenses to prevent his life or liberty being taken away by the state. If he loses, his property is taken by the state to pay the costs of the court proceedings, but if he wins he has no recourse against the state.

It is difficult to see the justice of this system. If a person is unjustly accused and put to the expense and worry of a trial, the state should reimburse him for his loss. It is unjust that an innocent person should suffer in any manner, and if wrongfully accused, the state should make every reparation possible. Mrs. Eaton has been acquitted by a jury and it is presumed that the charge against her was false. She has taken the only method at hand to secure reimbursement for her loss and it is certain that sooner or later the world will see not only justice of her position but of the rights of every individual unjustly accused and forced to stand trial.—Springfield Sun.

Washington, Dec. 10.—There were sharp clashes in the senate over fundamental questions involved in the two currency bills. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska attacked Senator Owen's bill because it provided for a banking capital in the regional reserve associations of only $52,000,000. Senator Owen had explained that he did not regard the difference between the two bills as vital simply because the Hitchcock bill called for a paid-up capital of $106,000,000, while the Democratic bill submitted by Mr. Owen and his colleagues required that only half that sum be paid in.

Mr. Hitchcock replied that what the country needed was more banking capital above the amount afforded by the Owen bill, and that this meant a difference in credit of $150,000,000.

The next clash came over the question of the control of the regional reserve association. The Owen bill provides for bank control, while the Hitchcock bill gives the government a majority control. Senator Shafrroth defended the Owen bill provision on the ground that the bill was being shaped as a "bankers' measure," and that if bankers were not given a majority voice in directing the affairs of the regional association they certainly would refuse to put their capital into the new system.

"You might as well vote 'no' on the passage of this bill," said Senator Shafrroth, "as to vote to eliminate the bank control of the regional association."

Senator Shafrroth insisted that practically none of the national banks of the country will enter the proposed system and that the law would be a nullity if the federal reserve board was authorized to dominate the directorate of the regional association. He insisted that no national bank would submit to have its directors appointed for it from Washington.

Senator Bristow called on Mr. Shafrroth to name a single bank that had remained to remain out of the reserve association if the federal reserve board were given a controlling voice in the management of the regional reserve association. Mr. Bristow was as emphatic in denouncing the administration bill, which he declared to be a "sham and a fraud" because it purported to give relief to the people of the country, but turned them over to the mercy of bankers.

"Strick" Tired of BEING DRESSED UP

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 10.—Strickland Gillian has just moved to this city from Baltimore, Md., because he was tired of the East and "wanted to come back to the democratic, understandable middle west." The famous author of "Flinnigan and Flannigan," says he was tired of being dressed up.

"Why I've gone weeks and weeks down East," he said, "without having my shoes, coat, collar or tie off, except when I went to bed! I could not really go back to barefoot times, or I should accumulate far more blisters than bliss; I can not go back to the shirt-sleeve twilight; I can not go and arrange a turning pole, made from a dogwood handspike, laid in two convenient forks of an apple tree and work at it in the twilight; or some one would see me and spread the glad tidings that I was a nut."

"But there is the language and life of the Middle West, where I was born where I can understand and be understood. Some people don't belong East at all. I am one of them. I stayed down there because I am stubborn. I stayed in a city that didn't need me, and didn't want me, and I lived in the best part of it just to show what a Hoosier-trained Buckeye product could do if he darn pleased.

"In all those years of sojourn in the wilderness, I had a hard time picking companions who had ever made lye soap, with a hopper shaped like an inverted pyramid; who had ever taught a calf to drink from a bucket; who had ever 'slopped' the hogs; who had ever eaten in the kitchen; who had ever managed with one new store suit every other year; who knew what it meant to get a stone bruise, ground itch or a stumped toe; who had ever bombarded bald hornets or battled with bumblebees, or had ever sat around a fireplace, with father's home-knit socks hanging on the rung of a chair and the cream jar standing close by, with mother turning it now and then, so it would sour uniformly—how did I stand the loneliness? I didn't."

"How can such a man fit in and content himself among a people bred to formality and finger bowls and bridge and pseudo politeness and tuxedos and demi-tasses and geraniums and hardwood floors and daily baths?"

The Cosmic Law.

There is neither waste nor economy in nature. Energy is as indestructible as matter—no trace of waste anywhere, no economy. Nature does not use a fraction more than necessary nor less. The two words "waste" and "economy" cannot apply to the stupendous cosmic law, the conservation of energy.—Edgar Lucien Larkin is New York American.

New Idea in Medicine

The application of the department store idea to medicine seems to be the latest suggestion in medical development.

The suggestion is advanced by Dr. George W. Guthrie, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., and has in it at least enough practicality to arouse discussion.

Contrary to precedent, the medical department store is to be worked out for the benefit of the man of moderate means. The poor man is usually put forward as the beneficiary, but as regards expert medical or surgical service the poor man is in the class with the wealthy patient. He usually gets the same treatment for little or nothing that the wealthy pays for liberally. It is the man of moderate means who finds expert medical service out of his reach. He cannot afford to pay fancy prices, nor is he willing to accept charity. He would be only too glad to avail himself of expert skill were it within his reach.

Having this idea in view, together with the splendid motto: "The greatest good for the greatest number," Dr. Guthrie advocates what he calls "group diagnosis"—the association of competent specialists, who for a reasonable, fixed price, should be prepared to examine a patient in any of a number of different directions, tell him what ails him, and advise him what to do.

In presenting the new idea of a medical department store, Dr. Guthrie cites the example of a self-respecting artisan, accountant or teacher, earning $75 to $100 a month, who takes his wife to a physician for advice and treatment. It is found that the services of an oculist, a cystoscopist, a roentgenologist, a pathologist and probably other specialists are needed for a complete diagnosis. How is it possible to obtain such service on an income of that size? The "group diagnosis" would secure for the patient medical advice at a figure within his ability to pay.

The most notable example of this co-operation of competent specialists is the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Dr. R. Cabot, in an address before the Medical Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania, stated that about 14,000 patients attended this clinic in 1912, all of whom were examined and a careful diagnosis made in each case. In each case the best service was rendered and the fees were according to the ability to pay.

This combination of medical men, representing the various specialties, is to a greater or less degree, possible in every community. Call it what you will, the department store idea applied to medicine, or any other name, if the end accomplished helps financially to bring the best aid of the profession to the middle class, it is justifiable—even a necessity.

This grouping of medical men representing special lines of study and work, is the only way by which people of ordinary means can command the best services, unless they pauperize themselves and enter charity hospitals. Patients referred to these groups can return for treatment to their family doctors or personal advisers, with a scientific diagnosis.

Dr. Guthrie does not advocate in the least the doing away with the family doctor; rather that the family doctor in the proposed scheme be an up-to-date man, with knowledge general and accurate, and in touch with advanced professional ideas.

"Just as the religious adviser is needed in spiritual matters or the lawyer in the affairs of business, so will the medical adviser, the family doctor, hold his place in the American family."

Examinations and Lectures Don't Make the Best Doctors

By Sir WILLIAM OSLER, Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford University

THE WORK OF MEDICAL STUDENTS FROM THE DAY THEY ENTER THE SCHOOL OUGHT TO COUNT FOR QUALIFICATION, AND THE STUDENTS OUGHT NOT BE UNDER THE CONTINUAL FEAR OF EXAMINATION.

The Chinese system of education, which is directed to a single end, the passing examinations, shows perfectly the BLIGHTING INFLUENCE OF EXAMINATIONS and how they sterilize the imagination.

The great chasm between education and examination is shown by the statistics of aspirants to the Royal College of Surgeons. Half of the entrants fail, yet these are the very pick of the students. The lectures ought to be reduced. The DAY OF THE LECTURE IS PAST. It ought to be an offense on the part of a senior student to attend a lecture.

In the case of inefficient students parents ought to be told after a year or two that they will never make decent doctors. There ought to be no written papers at the final examination. Watch the man handle a patient. FIFTEEN MINUTES AT THE BEDSIDE IS WORTH THREE HOURS AT THE EXAMINATION TABLE.

The student needs that the incubus of examination should be lifted from his soul. We make the study of our profession an INTOLERABLE BURDEN BY EXAMINATIONS and the enormous expansion of the subjects of the curriculum.

Poetry For Today

THE LOST LEADER.

Just for a handful of silver he left us,
Just for a ribbon to stick in his coat—
Found the one gift of which fortune bereft us,
Lost all the others she let us devote;
They, with the gold to give, did'nt him our silver,
So much was theirs who is little allow'd;
How all our copper had gone for his service!
Rags—were they purple, his heart had been proud!
We that had loved him so, follow'd him, honor'd him,
Liv'd in his mild and magnificent eye,
Learn'd his great language, caught his great accents,
Made him our pattern to live and to die!
Shakespeare was of us, Milton was for us.,
Burns, Shelley, were with us—they watch from their graves!
He alone breaks from the van and the freemen,
He alone sinks to the rear, and the slaves.
We shall march prospering—not thro' his presence;
Songs may inspirit us—not from his lyre;
Deeds will be done—while he boasts his quiescence,
Still bidding crouch whom the rest bade aspire.

VISITING DEGREE STAFF PRAISED FOR GOOD WORK

BETWEEN 300 AND 400 ODD FELLOWS WITNESS SPLENDID WORK IN THIS CITY LAST NIGHT.

WORK DECIDELY DIFFERENT FROM THAT OF OTHER STAFFS

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS PRESENT AND ADDRESS ASSEMBLED ODD FELLOWS—PLANS UNDER WAY FOR BIG MEETING IN COLUMBUS AND IMPERIAL STAFF IS INVITED AS FEATURE FOR ONE DAY—ANOTHER BIG MEETING ON JANUARY 20TH.

Some exceptionally fine work was witnessed at the lodge home of Temple Lodge, I. O. O. F., Tuesday night, when the Majestic degree staff from Central Lodge, Columbus, conferred the first degree upon seventeen candidates in the presence of between 300 and 400 persons.

Visitors from a number of surrounding lodges witnessed the work, and Columbus sent some 75 of those present.

While the work was different in many ways from that of Imperial degree staff, it is reported that it did not surpass the work conferred by the local staff, and that those who witnessed the work still place the work of the Imperial staff in the lead.

The visiting team had the best settings for their work that exist, and are said to be historically correct, being the work of Peter Belissimo, who went to the far east and made sketches upon the spot where the story used is said to have occurred.

Before the work was conferred, all enjoyed a splendid repast spread in the spacious dining hall of the local lodge, and following the work a number of speeches were made, including one from Grand Master H. ... Kuntz, of Zanesville; Grand Secretary C. H. Layman, and one from Dr. Towne, who is captain of the Majestic staff. Several others responded to calls for short talks.

Dr. Towne stated that he is now agitating a two days' convention in Columbus, to be held next spring, and hopes to have 15,000 Odd Fellows present. The Majestic staff will

FORMER PASTOR DIES IN WEST

Washington friends received this week the sad news of the death of Rev. A. E. Johnson, at his home in Alhambra, Cal., the 1st of November.

Rev. Johnson is a brother of Rev. M. L. Johnson of the Northeast Ohio Conference, and was pastor of Grace M. E. church in this city about sixteen years ago, being the second minister to occupy the pulpit after the new church was built. He was also presiding elder of the Gallipolis district.

In 1903 Rev. Johnson was transferred to the California Ministerial district where he has since been an efficient worker in Methodist church work until the past year failing health caused him to give up his pastorate.

Although Rev. Johnson filled the local pulpit at Grace church for only one year, being in all health at the time, he formed many warm associations and friends here, especially older members of the congregation will learn of his death with deep regret.

Funeral services will be held at the home of his sisters, Thursday morning and a number of his friends and relatives from this county will attend.

Mr. Cook formerly resided at Cooks Station, and the place was named in his honor. He was a charter member of Vance Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Madison Mills, and always took an active part in lodge affairs.

A few years ago he moved to Crewe, Va., and has lived there until recently, when he went to visit his sisters in Chillicothe and take treatment while there.

He is well known in this city as well as in northern Fayette.

Miss Janette Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, of Staunton, is suffering from a badly fractured left arm and wrenched shoulder, sustained Tuesday afternoon when she slipped and fell from the veranda of the James Ducey residence in this city, where she was employed as a domestic.

Owing to the serious nature of the fracture the young woman was removed to the Fayette hospital where the fracture was reduced and she was made as comfortable as possible.

Some eight months ago the young woman's father underwent a serious operation at one of the local hospitals and has been unable to work for some time. The young woman was contributing toward the support of the family, but will now be unable to work for weeks and perhaps months.

PHOTOS OF SENSATIONAL AUTO TRIP FROM "THE CAPE TO CAIRO"

Cairo, Egypt, December 10.—To make an auto trip the entire length of Africa sounds like a thoroughly impossible proposition, yet a party of Englishmen and one American have just completed an eventful journey from "the Cape to Cairo." These photos were taken during the trip, which proved one of a highly dangerous character owing to exposure to savage tribes and to fevers and wild animals. The party arrived safely in Cairo, however. Rivers were forded, desert wastes crossed and improvised roads and bridges had to be constructed at different stages of the tour, which is the longest auto trip on record, covering a distance of about 6000 miles.

PLANS FOR BOYS WORK DISCUSSED

The Boys Work Conference was attended by a large number of the practical men of the town last evening, and all were pleased to meet Mr. G. Bailey, International Boys' Secretary.

Mr. Bailey travels all of the time through the United States and is in close touch with what the Boys' Work should be in its activity and results.

The conference was held in the Presbyterian church and after partaking of the splendid dinner, which was served by the ladies of the church, the men adjourned upstairs and discussed the needs and importance of Boys' Work and what special problems were to be solved and how to do it.

The following committee was appointed to look after the work of organizing Boys' Clubs and furthering the Boys' Work in this city: H. A. Walker, Dr. Carey Persinger, J. G. Williams, Arthur Leland and C. A. Crooks.

An apology was demanded, and when it was not made the fight was arranged.

DIES AFTER FIGHT FOR GIRL

Ex-Pugilist Fatally Beaten In Fist Combat to Win Helen Martin.

St. Louis.—John Moriarity, a former pugilist, died of injuries received in a fist fight with Sergeant Herman Ohler of the United States army in rivalry for the hand of Miss Helen Martin. The girl gave the pair to understand that she would wed the Victor and has announced her engagement to Ohler.

Since his retirement from the ring Moriarity had been a confectioner. He fell in love with Miss Martin, who twitted him with having rude ways and remarked several times that he had a rival who was gallant in the extreme. Then she introduced the rivals to each other.

The pugilist remarked in the hearing of the soldier that any one who would drink wine from a woman's slipper was a mollycoddle. Miss Martin said that she believed Ohler would drink wine from her slipper. Ohler immediately essayed thefeat, but the pugilist bumped against him, causing him to spill the wine.

An apology was demanded, and when it was not made the fight was arranged.

LOCALS DEFEAT THE "SENATORS"

VISITORS WHO EXPECTED EASY VICTORY OVER Y. M. C. A. TEAM LAST NIGHT ARE EASILY DEFEATED BY 31 TO 16 SCORE—BRADYS BOOKED FOR DECEMBER 27TH, AND TEAM IS COMPOSED OF STAR PROFESSIONALS.

Defeated at every stage of the game, the Columbus "Senators" returned home Tuesday night to nurse a drubbing of 31 to 16, and are wiser than when they stepped upon the floor at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening to defeat the frisky "Y" team.

A fair sized crowd witnessed the game and heartily applauded the local team as point after point was piled up in rapid succession until the "Senators" were completely worn out with their efforts to prevent themselves from being tied to the small end of the score.

From start to finish the "Y" team had things very much their way, defeating the "Senators" at every turn, and outclassing them throughout the game.

Right off the reel the local team piled up more than a half dozen points without permitting the visitors to do a thing except try to prevent the fast playing. Each member of the "Y" team played a star game and while the playing of the visitors was good, they were simply "not in it" with their fast opponents.

The visitors picked up somewhat at the eleventh hour, but it was then a hopeless task, and they were again held down before their score had climbed to any extent.

Another game will probably be played with the "Senators", and a much different line-up is expected when they again show up for battle.

Saturday night, December 27th the local team will meet an old opponent—the Bradys—from Xenia, and one of the hottest games of the season is predicted.

The Bradys are getting in trim for the season, and have chosen Thomas McClellan, captain and Fred Shultz, manager. McClellan was the star forward of Antioch last year.

All of the old members are ready to try out, and two new recruits are in line—McClellan and Ray Johnson. Johnson was captain of the Muskingum College team last year, and will probably win a place on the team, so that when the "Y" team meets the bunch they will have professionals to deal with, and most of the professionals' star players.

KEITH'S THEATER

To celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the date when Mr. B. F. Keith founded vaudeville, the B. F. Keith theater of Columbus will offer a bill made up of twelve acts. It will be of interest to readers to know that Mr. B. F. Keith was born at Hillsboro Ridge, N. H., and that he left home and began to make his own way in the world when he was but seven years of age. He was seventeen when he saw his first show. That gave him an idea—an idea, which developed into a great chain of theaters which have made Mr. Keith both rich and famous.

Just thirty years ago, Mr. Keith rented an empty store-room in Boston where he exhibited "Baby Alice" who weighed just twenty ounces. The women and children of Boston were willing to pay a dime to see this wonderful babe.

When the people of Boston grew tired of Baby Alice, Mr. Keith secured other attractions and kept his store-house theater open all day and until late in the evening. Soon he rented a larger place and established the continuous vaudeville on a firmer basis. City after city was glad to welcome Mr. Keith when he came to purchase houses and establish Keith vaudeville. By the magic of his genius, Mr. B. F. Keith has made vaudeville the most popular form of entertainment America or the world has ever known. The name of B. F. Keith stands for vaudeville just as Morgan means money, Carnegie means steel or Armour is synonymous with beef. Today more people attend vaudeville than any other form of amusement because they like it best.

Surely, for all this, it is fitting that the patrons celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the day Mr. Keith set about to make so many people happy. Among the acts which will grace the Anniversary bill at B. F. Keith's Columbus theater, will be Homer Miles in "On the Edge of Things;" B. A. Rolfe's "Arcadia" a great musical act; Ladie Cliff, Riesner and Gores; Moore and Youngs; Chas. L. Fletcher, and a score of others well worth while.

Miss Dora Eggleston leaves tomorrow for a lengthy visit in New York city with her cousin, Mrs. Katharine Junkerman. She goes by Niagara Falls where she will spend a part of the day.

Miss Lucile Jefferson and Mary Weir were in town for the morning enroute for a little visit in Mt. Sterling and Columbus.

"Either" and "Neither."

There are two or three things about these two words that one should remember. In the first place, they should never be used in connection with more than two things—as: "It was either Tuesday or Wednesday," not "either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday;" "It was neither Tuesday nor Wednesday," not "neither Tuesday, Wednesday nor Thursday." Then, either should not be used in the sense of each, as "they walked on one on either side of the road." It should be one on "each" side of the road. The third caution is about the pronunciation. Some persons insist that they should be pronounced "e-ther" and "ni-ther," with the "i" long. But this is more an affectation perhaps than anything else.

The best authorities agree that the right pronunciation is "e-ther" and "ne-ther."—New York World.

AUDITOR HENKLE HAS BIG TASK

Auditor Henkle is now engaged in preparing an abstract of all of the real property in Fayette county to certify over to District Assessor J. C. Dunn, and he will have several months work before the big abstract is completed.

Not only must every one of the 9000 pieces of realty be certified, but the work of separating the buildings from the land is one of the features of the work, and some 3000 realty transfers, made within the past three years, must be examined and the realty changing hands certified accordingly.

The task is a large one, but Auditor Henkle and his assistants are now busily engaged in the work, which was started first of this week.

Just as soon as the work is well under way Mr. Dunn and assistants will take up the end of the task which falls to his department.

The assessors are to commence their work on February 2nd.

BRIDE-TO-BE IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

As a result of sleeping in a tight room where a gas stove without a flue was burning, Mrs. L. B. Hart, 74, of Columbus is dead and Miss Barbara Hart, 24, and Miss Rachel Hart, 22, are still in a very critical condition in the Grant hospital, at Columbus.

Local interest is increased in the sad event by the fact that Dr. Edgar M. Allen, a former Washington boy, a son of Mr. Willis Allen and a cousin of Mr. Howard Allen, is to marry Miss Rachel Hart on Dec. 27.

Mr. Willis Allen now resides in Chillicothe, and Dr. Edgar M. Allen is a resident of Columbus. Dr. Allen was born in this city, and is well known here. His bride-to-be has been living at Caruthersville, Mo., and arrived in Columbus a few days ago to prepare for the coming wedding.

Both of the young women are still in a serious condition.

TONIGHT 'THE VILLAGE POSTOFFICE'

One of the big hits of the season will be "The Village Postoffice," at the Empire Opera House tonight, and a large attendance is assured.

In this laughable production the roles are all filled by local talent, some of whom have delighted the public on many occasions hitherto. All are good and there is in store for the public an evening of the keenest enjoyment.

The "show" is under the auspices of the Epworth League of Grace church and the direction of Miss Esther Leeland.

Seats will be on sale at Baldwin's Drug store until 6:50 this evening, after which the plat will be taken to the boxoffice at the Empire.

JUNK AND WILLETT STORE OPENS SOON

Workmen have been engaged in working a wonderful transformation in the room soon to be occupied by the Junk and Willett Hardware Co., in the Odd Fellows' temple, and oak fixtures are being installed throughout the big room, while a handsome office is being constructed in the rear of the room.

The store will open for business in the near future, the large stock of hardware having been purchased and is now on the road. The store will be under the management of Mr. Junk, and will be one of the best equipped in this part of Ohio.

A SUNSET IN SCOTLAND.

It was a sunset of strange tints that evening, a background of clouds of deep violet tipped with crimson. The sky, of the very palest blue, had been turned by the brightness of the sun into a lake of silver, in which floated small fleecy cloudlets of brilliant rose pink, like islets floating in a crystal sea. The rays of the sun behind the purple clouds threw long shafts of dazzling brightness, which tipped the dark background with silver as the sun kissed the petals of a daisy. Every peak in the long range of mountains on the west was rose tipped, but the highest of them all towered clear and cone shaped in the distance, glistening in a shimmering mantle of silver and pale blue, as if the sky had wrapped it round its own cerulean color.—"A Garden of Spices," by A. Keith Fraser.

Owing to the low pressure of gas Monday morning our public school had to close for the day. It is strange that our citizens can not get better service from the gas company, which could be easily done if the company would employ some competent person to look after and take care of the regulator. But instead of doing so when complaint is made by their patrons, their plea is that they have no one that they can send here, as they are all so busy. They do not fail to collect their bills with commendable regularity.

Our citizens are somewhat elated over the prospect of Mr. Baker establishing a motor bus route through this place. Our citizens should encourage Mr. Baker in his enterprise as we would be able to get out of and into this place without danger of eating away to the tip end of our bank account.

The recent wet spell has proven a great disadvantage to our farming community, as it has been impossible to market corn, it being in no condition to shell.

The following shipments of live stock and grain were made from this point during the past week: Shepherd & Co., one car of cattle to Springfield; Geo. Hakes, three cars of straw to Cedarville; Metzger & Co., one car of hay to Maysville, Ky., and one car of hay to Ironton; Dewey Bros., one car of straw to Olive, Ky., and one car to Circleville.

Owing to the poor car service furnished by the D. T. & I. our shippers of live stock have been unable to do any business from this point. For the past three weeks the Grasshopper has made only one trip per week.

A VICTIM OF NEEDLE GANG

Cleveland, O., Dec. 10.—Police and government officers here are searching for two men believed to be members of the New York poison needle gang, who are alleged to have attacked George Baker of New York, said to be a United States immigration inspector, and robbed him of valuable government papers while he was under the influence of the drug. The victim, who is said to have been conducting a white slave probe here, was walking down Lakeside avenue when he was suddenly taken ill. Two men, who had evidently been following him, rushed forward and carried him into Lakeside hospital near by. While physicians were reviving Baker his supposed friends picked up his baggage and fled. Two government papers, supposed to be reports on white slave conditions in this city, were in the bag.

NAMES EDITOR FOR GOVERNOR

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 10.—Refugees from Chihuahua, accompanied by the retreating federal army, continued to arrive all day at Ojinaga, the Mexican town opposite Presidio, Tex., and several hundred of them crossed into Presidio during the day. Many automobiles from Marfa, Tex., began moving them toward the railroad as fast as possible, but it will be many days before all can be transported. Meanwhile the accommodations at Presidio are very poor, owing to its isolation from the railroad. No tents have been sent for the accommodation of the refugees, and while the staple articles of food are being distributed, many of the refugees are sick and in need of more delicate food than can be procured. Many of the sick ones are also being made worse by lack of shelter at Presidio or Ojinaga.

The federal troops are fortifying Ojinaga and making preparations to try to hold the town. They have set up the state capital at Ojinaga, and Governor General Salvador Mercado will issue an edict declaring that Chihuahua is no longer the seat of government for the state.

Villa has named Sylvester Terrazas, an editor of Chihuahua, civil governor of the state. Villa has taken possession of the state capital at Chihuahua, but is showing no disposition to move south towards Mexico City, as he threatened to do. It is pointed out by his lieutenants in Juarez that he can make no such move until the Mercado column at Ojinaga has been disposed of.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Cleveland Cops at War. Cleveland, O., Dec. 10.—A revolt is brewing in the police department as the result of Police Chief Rowe's veto of the proposed organization among patrolmen of the Police Protective Association, which would have as its object the capture and prosecution of those who attack policemen while in the discharge of their duty. Some of the officers threaten to ask for an injunction to prevent Rowe from carrying out his order.

Admits He Forged Notes.

Delaware, O., Dec. 10.—A letter postmarked Portland, Ore., addressed to the editor of a local newspaper, brought a purported confession from Walter Glenn, a young farmer, who says he fled to escape what he believed to be imminent prosecution for forged notes. Glenn ascribes his fall to hard luck with his farm. No one knew of Glenn's flight until the letter was received.

New York, Dec. 10.—There will be no interleague games between the International league and the American association next season. The International league men put the proposal to a vote and defeated it.

JOE TINKER

Cincinnati, December 10.—It has been officially announced by the board of directors of the Cincinnati Baseball club that Joe Tinker, shortstop and manager of the Reds, would not lead the next team during the season of 1914. Inability to come to terms with Tinker is given as the reason for reaching the conclusion. The officials of the club gave out the following statement: "The officers and directors of the Cincinnati Exhibition company desire to announce that they could not come to a satisfactory agreement with Mr. Tinker to act as Mikesell says when he came to Cincinnati he was followed by two strangers. Both Simpson and Mikesell say that they have been threatened by saloonkeepers who were refused licenses. The board closed 35 saloons in Butler county.

MILK THAT WOULDN'T SOUR

J. A. Spears of Clinton county, Ohio, started 25 years ago with two cows to build up a herd of dairy cattle. Now he has 53 head of selected milch cows and many head of promising young stock coming on. While he has been building up his herd, Mr. Spears has also done everything possible to make conditions sanitary in and around his stables and other places where the milk has to be handled. How well he succeeded is brought out in a story of the loss of one of his customers.

By milking through cotton and cheese cloth Mr. Spears has been able to keep milk sweet for 17 days in an ordinary spring-house without the use of any ice or preservatives.

A customer, who lived in one of the nearby towns, wanting to use some sour milk for culinary purposes, set a bottle of milk from this dairy outside her ice chest, thinking that it would sour over night. When she found in the morning that the milk was not sour, she took Mr. Spears to task for using preservatives, remarking that she was accustomed to getting pure milk, the kind that would sour over night. As the result of the episode, she refused to buy further of him because she firmly believed he was producing impure milk.

In reality, he was producing milk of such high grade that it would not sour even under unfavorable conditions in such a short period as one or two days.

He had dreamed that he sat down with the usual company at the Thanksgiving dinner and that immediately one of his fellow students rose in his place, saying that it was his painful duty to announce to the company that the wife of their host had suddenly died at 8 o'clock that morning.

This dream, however, he had instantly banished from his mind as an uncanny probability and had thought no more about it. But on going to the dinner and taking his seat with the company he was unspeakably amazed to see the student seen in the dream rise and to hear him make the announcement made in the dream.—Exchange.

REBELS PREPARING TO ATTACK OJINAGA AND TAMPICO—FEDERALS FEVERISHLY WORK AT DEFENSES — AMERICAN VESSELS HEAD FOR TAMPICO—NULLIFICATION OF ELECTIONS NO SURPRISE TO WASHINGTON.

By Associated Press.

Pasadena, California, December 10.—Further action to obtain the release of W. S. Windham and J. M. Dunn, former Pasadena citizens, held by Constitutionalists in Sinaloa, Mexico, was taken today when the local Board of Trade telegraphed to Secretary of State Bryan as follows:

"Nine days have elapsed and no word has yet been received from W. S. Windham, former cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, who is held in Mexico for ransom. We would earnestly request that further action be taken immediately to insure his release." Two weeks ago Windham got a message through stating that he and Dunn were being held for a ransom of $5000 gold. Caranza ordered their release ten days ago according to messages from Hermosillo, but nothing has been heard to indicate that the men have been set free.

NEXT BATTLEGROUND

By Associated Press.

Juarez, Mexico, Dec. 10.—Events today indicated that Ojinaga, sometimes called Presidio Del Norte, the small Mexican village on the border opposite Presidio, Texas, would be the scene of the next important move in the Mexican Revolution.

Rebel leaders are convinced that Ojinaga, where the Federal troops have been concentrated, cannot be ignored by Gen. Francisco Villa. Within the town are fortified practically all the Federal troops of the north with most of their important generals. Their retreat thither avowedly was to obtain money and provisions because in the interior they have been without pay and were on the verge of famine.

Re-provisioned and provided with money, the Federals would be in position to renew hostilities. The threatened mutiny of the Federals as was shown by their calling across the river to the American side that they would desert if attacked, is being relied upon by the Rebels.

BUILDING DEFENSES

By Associated Press.

Presidio, Texas, December 10.—Federal fortifications were hurriedly built today all around Ojinaga, where the Federal troops from Chihuahua were preparing for a Rebel attack. It was believed that 3500 Rebels under Generals Herrera and Urbinia were marching on Ojinaga, but they could not expect to reach the frontier town in force within four or five days. The Federal soldiers appeared to be apathetic over the prospect of a fight. More of them went to the river front and shouted over to the American troops, "We are tired of fighting, won't you let us come across?" The American soldiers warned them to remain on their own side.

Captain Batson and Flying Liner In Which He May Cross Atlantic

CAPTAIN MATTHEW A. BATSON, U. S. A., retired, is inventor and builder of a twelve winged flying boat or aero yacht, with which he says he will try to fly across the Atlantic. He has studied aviation problems for twenty years, and he began on plans for his flying boat in 1910. He began actual construction of the machine April 6, 1913, and completed it Nov. 12, 1913. He plans to fly from Savannah, Ga., to New York city in eleven hours; from New York to St. John, N. B., and from St. John to west coast of Ireland, a distance of 1,760 miles, which he claims he will make in eighteen hours' continuous flight. The Batson hydroaeroplane is unlike any other flying machine, with perhaps the exception of a few borrowed ideas from the pioneer, Professor Langley. It cost $50,000. Captain Batson claims it will attain a speed of sixty miles an hour on the water. In flight he claims it will attain a speed of 125 miles an hour. Including the crew of six men, it will carry sixteen passengers in the cabin and lifeboat and as much as 5,000 pounds over its own weight. Captain Batson and his machine are here shown.

LIQUOR FIGHT CAUSES ANGER

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., December 10.—Hostilities between Representative Donovan of Connecticut and Representative Hobson, of Alabama, both Democrats, broke out in the House again today and Donovan blocked Hobson's request for an hour's time tomorrow to discuss a petition for a prohibition amendment to the constitution. For almost an hour the two members had been carrying on a private argument close to the Speaker's rostrum with feeling so intent that some Congressmen expected them to come to blows. Later they continued their argument in the lobby, where Hobson is reported to have invited Donovan to fight. Later when Hobson asked unanimous consent to present the petition, brought by 1000 citizens representing the Anti-Saloon league, Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri reserved the right to object and Donovan thundered, "object," in a voice that reverberated throughout the chamber. Hobson gave way, but announced that at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon he proposed to speak anyway.

WOULD DEPOSE KING ALCOHOL

Washington, Dec. 10.—More than 2,000 men and women, representing the Anti-Saloon League of America and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, marched in separate bodies to the Capitol today, bearing petitions demanding national prohibition by constitutional amendment.

Brigadier General A. S. Daggett acted as grand marshal of the men's procession, while the women were headed by Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens of Maine, president general of the Woman's Christian Temperance union.

The demonstration took place at 10 o'clock at the east front of the Capitol. There Representative Hobson of Alabama, author of the proposed constitutional amendment, received the petitions on behalf of the house of representatives, and Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas acted for the senate. Addresses were made on behalf of the committee of 1,000 by Ernest H. Cherrington of Westerville, O., editor of the official organ of the Anti-Saloon league, and by Former Governor M. R. Paterson of Tennessee. Afterwards the reasons for a constitutional amendment from the women's standpoint were presented by Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, president of the New York state Woman's Christian Temperance union, and Mrs. Mary Harris Armor of Georgia.

Plans for the demonstration were inaugurated at a meeting recently at Columbus of the Anti-Saloon League of America, when resolutions in favor of national prohibition were adopted and the committee of 1,000 appointed to urge congress to adopt the proposed constitutional amendment.

A subcommittee had completed the draft of a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution. Representative Hobson and Senator Sheppard will introduce the resolution in the two houses of congress.

The preamble recites that "exact scientific research has demonstrated that alcohol is a narcotic poison, destructive and degenerating to the human organism, and that its distribution as a beverage or when contained in food lays a staggering economic burden upon the shoulders of the people, lowers to an appalling degree the average standard of character of our citizenship, thereby undermining the public morals and the foundation of free institutions; produces widespread crime, pauperism and insanity, inflicts disease and untimely death upon hundreds of thousands of citizens and blights with degeneracy their children unborn, threatening the future integrity and the very life of the nation."

The resolution would propose a constitutional amendment to forever prohibit the sale, manufacture for sale, transportation for sale, importation for sale of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes, but empowering congress to provide for the manufacture, sale, importation and transportation of liquors for sacramental, medicinal and other purposes.

GUARDING AGAINST CROUP.

SAYS PAID $7000 ELECTION IS VOID FOR "INFLUENCE" HUERTA HANGS ON

New York, Dec. 10.—James E. Gaffney was pushed to the front in the highway graft investigation. He is the partner of the Tammany Hall leader's brother, John J. Murphy, in the contracting business. He is reputed to be worth several million dollars. Governor Sulzer said he was impeached because he refused to appoint Mr. Gaffney commissioner of highways at the suggestion of Mr. Murphy.

John M. Murphy, a contractor, testified before Chief Magistrate McAdoo in the John Doe proceedings that he paid to Gaffney and Joseph D. Carroll more than $7,000 to get contracts from the highways department. He swore that Gaffney never did a thing to earn the money. He said he paid it to him merely because he thought Gaffney's influence would help him at Albany. Carroll died last year. He was the general manager and treasurer of the firm of Fiss, Boer & Carroll, horse dealers. For many years this company held a monopoly in the sale of horses to the city. In 10 years the city paid more than $2,000,000 to the firm. Mr. Carroll was the close friend of Charles F. Murphy.

The action of the congress in annulling the election was based on the failure of the majority districts to make returns on Oct. 26. Only 7,167 districts sent in returns out of a possible 14,000, and of these 425 were declared legal. The constitution requires that more than one-half of the districts send in legal returns, and the election is for that reason declared null and void.

The action of congress in decreeing that General Huerta may retain the presidency is contrary to the constitutional provisions, which stipulate that no provisional president may retain power longer than 11 months.

When the congress assembled 156 members were present, and the resolution fixing the date of the new elections and authorizing Huerta to remain in power was passed unanimously. Ten members of the Catholic party, however, left the hall before the rollcall.

There is the keenest expectation in the capital as to what will be the attitude of President Wilson following the action taken by congress.

PAYING TRIAL EXPENSES.

Mrs. Jennie Eaton has appealed to Governor Foss to have the state of Massachusetts reimburse her for the expenses of her trial upon the charge of poisoning Rear Admiral Eaton. It is difficult to see why the state should not pay the trial expenses of every individual who has been tried upon a criminal charge and acquitted.

In civil suits, the loser in the court trial is compelled to pay the costs upon the theory that he should have settled his obligations and kept out of the court. It is possible there for a litigant who has been forced into court unjustly to secure reimbursement for his expenses and to avoid pecuniary loss. In criminal trials, however, the accused has no recourse under the mistaken theory that the government can do no wrong, the accused is hauled into court, forced to employ counsel and incur other expenses to prevent his life or liberty being taken away by the state. If he loses, his property is taken by the state to pay the costs of the court proceedings, but if he wins he has no recourse against the state.

It is difficult to see the justice of this system. If a person is unjustly accused and put to the expense and worry of a trial, the state should reimburse him for his loss. It is unjust that an innocent person should suffer in any manner, and if wrongfully accused, the state should make every reparation possible. Mrs. Eaton has been acquitted by a jury and it is presumed that the charge against her was false. She has taken the only method at hand to secure reimbursement for her loss and it is certain that sooner or later the world will see not only justice of her position but of the rights of every individual unjustly accused and forced to stand trial.—Springfield Sun.

Washington, Dec. 10.—There were sharp clashes in the senate over fundamental questions involved in the two currency bills. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska attacked Senator Owen's bill because it provided for a banking capital in the regional reserve associations of only $52,000,000. Senator Owen had explained that he did not regard the difference between the two bills as vital simply because the Hitchcock bill called for a paid-up capital of $106,000,000, while the Democratic bill submitted by Mr. Owen and his colleagues required that only half that sum be paid in.

Mr. Hitchcock replied that what the country needed was more banking capital above the amount afforded by the Owen bill, and that this meant a difference in credit of $150,000,000.

The next clash came over the question of the control of the regional reserve association. The Owen bill provides for bank control, while the Hitchcock bill gives the government a majority control. Senator Shafroth defended the Owen bill provision on the ground that the bill was being shaped as a "bankers' measure," and that if bankers were not given a majority voice in directing the affairs of the regional association they certainly would refuse to put their capital into the new system.

"You might as well vote 'no' on the passage of this bill," said Senator Shafroth, "as to vote to eliminate the bank control of the regional association."

Senator Shafroth insisted that practically none of the national banks of the country will enter the proposed system and that the law would be a nullity if the federal reserve board was authorized to dominate the directorate of the regional association. He insisted that no national bank would submit to have its directors appointed for it from Washington.

Senator Bristow called on Mr. Shafroth to name a single bank that had threatened to remain out of the reserve association if the federal reserve board were given a controlling voice in the management of the regional reserve association. Mr. Bristow was as emphatic in denouncing the administration bill, which he declared to be a "sham and a fraud" because it purported to give relief to the people of the country, but turned them over to the mercy of bankers.

"STRICK" TIRED OF BEING DRESSED UP

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 10.—Strickland Gillian has just moved to this city from Baltimore, Md., because he was tired of the East and "wanted to come back to the democratic, understandable middle west." The famous author of "Flinnigan and Flannigan," says he was tired of being dressed up.

"Why I've gone weeks and weeks down East," he said, "without having my shoes, coat, collar or tie off, except when I went to bed! I could not really go back to barefoot times, or I should accumulate far more blisters than bliss; I can not go back to the shirt-sleeve twilight; I can not go and arrange a turning pole, made from a dogwood handspike, laid in two convenient forks of an apple tree and work at it in the twilight; or some one would see me and spread the glad tidings that I was a nut."

"But there is the language and life of the Middle West, where I was born where I can understand and be understood. Some people don't belong East at all. I am one of them. I stayed down there because I am stubborn. I stayed in a city that didn't need me, and didn't want me, and I lived in the best part of it just to show what a Hoosier-trained Buckeye product could do if he darn pleased.

"In all those years of sojourn in the Wilderness, I had a hard time picking companions who had ever made lye soap, with a hopper shaped like an inverted pyramid; who had ever taught a calf to drink from a bucket; who had ever stopped the hogs; who had ever eaten in the kitchen; who had ever managed with one new store suit every other year; who knew what it meant to get a stone bruise, ground itch or a stumped toe; who had ever bombarded bald hornets or battled with bumblebees, or had ever sat around a fireplace with father's home-knit socks hanging on the rung of a chair and the cream jar standing close by, with mother turning it now and then, so it would sour uniformly—how did I stand the loneliness? I didn't."

"How can such a man fit in and content himself among a people bred to formality and finger bowls and bridge and pseudo politeness and tuxedos and demi-tasses and geraniums and hardwood floors and daily baths?"

The Cosmic Law.

There is neither waste nor economy in nature. Energy is as indestructible as matter—no trace of waste anywhere. Nature does not use a fraction more than necessary, nor less. The two words "waste" and "economy" cannot apply to the stupendous cosmic law, the conservation of energy.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

New Idea in Medicine

The application of the department store idea to medicine seems to be the latest suggestion in medical development.

The suggestion is advanced by Dr. George W. Guthrie, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., and has in it at least enough practicality to arouse discussion.

Contrary to precedent, the medical department store is to be worked out for the benefit of the man of moderate means. The poor man is usually put forward as the beneficiary, but as regards expert medical or surgical service the poor man is in the class with the wealthy patient. He usually gets the same treatment for little or nothing that the wealthy pays for liberally. It is the man of moderate means who finds expert medical service out of his reach. He cannot afford to pay fancy prices, nor is he willing to accept charity. He would be only too glad to avail himself of expert skill were it within his reach.

Having this idea in view, together with the splendid motto: "The greatest good for the greatest number," Dr. Guthrie advocates what he calls "group diagnosis"—the association of competent specialists, who for a reasonable, fixed price, should be prepared to examine a patient in any of a number of different directions, tell him what ails him, and advise him what to do.

In presenting the new idea of a medical department store, Dr. Guthrie cites the example of a self-respecting artisan, accountant or teacher, earning $75 to $100 a month, who takes his wife to a physician for advice and treatment. It is found that the services of an oculist, a cystoscopist, a roentgenologist, a pathologist and probably other specialists are needed for a complete diagnosis. How is it possible to obtain such service on an income of that size? The "group diagnosis" would secure for the patient medical advice at a figure within his ability to pay.

The most notable example of this co-operation of competent specialists is the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Cabot, in an address before the Medical Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania, stated that about 14,000 patients attended this clinic in 1912, all of whom were examined and a careful diagnosis made in each case. In each case the best service was rendered and the fees were according to the ability to pay.

This combination of medical men, representing the various specialties, is to a greater or less degree, possible in every community. Call it what you will, the department store idea applied to medicine, or any other name, if the end accomplished helps financially to bring the best aid of the profession to the middle class, it is justifiable—even a necessity.

This grouping of medical men representing special lines of study and work, is the only way by which people of ordinary means can command the best services, unless they pauperize themselves and enter charity hospitals. Patients referred to these groups can return for treatment to their family doctors or personal advisers, with a scientific diagnosis.

Dr. Guthrie does not advocate in the least the doing away with the family doctor; rather that the family doctor in the proposed scheme be an up-to-date man, with knowledge general and accurate, and in touch with advanced professional ideas.

"Just as the religious adviser is needed in spiritual matters or the lawyer in the affairs of business, so will the medical adviser, the family doctor, hold his place in the American family."

Examinations and Lectures Don't Make the Best Doctors

By Sir WILLIAM OSLER, Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford University

THE WORK OF MEDICAL STUDENTS FROM THE DAY THEY ENTER THE SCHOOL OUGHT TO COUNT FOR QUALIFICATION, AND THE STUDENTS OUGHT NOT BE UNDER THE CONTINUAL FEAR OF EXAMINATION.

The Chinese system of education, which is directed to a single end, the passing examinations, shows perfectly the BLIGHTING INFLUENCE OF EXAMINATIONS and how they sterilize the imagination.

The great chasm between education and examination is shown by the statistics of aspirants to the Royal College of Surgeons. Half of the entrants fail, yet these are the very pick of the students. The lectures ought to be reduced. The DAY OF THE LECTURE IS PAST. It ought to be an offense on the part of a senior student to attend a lecture.

In the case of inefficient students parents ought to be told after a year or two that they will never make decent doctors. There ought to be no written papers at the final examination. Watch the man handle a patient. FIFTEEN MINUTES AT THE BEDSIDE IS WORTH THREE HOURS AT THE EXAMINATION TABLE.

The student needs that the incubus of examination should be lifted from his soul. We make the study of our profession an INTOLERABLE BURDEN BY EXAMINATIONS and the enormous expansion of the subjects of the curriculum.

Poetry For Today

THE LOST LEADER.
Just for a handful of silver he left us,
Just for a ribbon to stick in his coat—
Found the one gift of which fortune bereft us,
Lost all the others she let us devote;
They, with the gold to give, dol'd him our silver,
So much was theirs who is little allow'd;
How all our copper had gone for his service!
Rags—were they purple, his heart had been proud!
We that had loved him so, follow'd him, honor'd him,
Liv'd in his mild and magnificent eye,
Learn'd his great language, caught his great accents,
Made him our pattern to live and to die!
Shakespeare was of us, Milton was for us,
Burns, Shelley, were with us—they watch from their graves!
He alone breaks from the van and the freemen,
He alone sinks to the rear, and the slaves.
We shall march prospering—not thro' his presence;
Songs may inspirit us—not from his lyre;
Deeds will be done—while he boasts his quiescence,
Still bidding crouch whom the rest bade aspire.
—Robert Browning.

BUSINESS men want quick action and their increasing use of the telephone springs from that desire. To meet different requirements of its patrons the Telephone Company, like the railroad company, has established different classes of service. The party line, like the local train, is invaluable in its place; where trifling delays work no impairment to the service, it furnishes quick action. For the man in a hurry, who wants speed, privacy and a clear track everywhere always, the single line telephone, like the fast express, goes through direct, supplying quick and quiet service.

VISITING DEGREE STAFF PRAISED FOR GOOD WORK

BETWEEN 300 AND 400 ODD FELLOWS WITNESS SPLENDID WORK IN THIS CITY LAST NIGHT.

WORK DECIDELY DIFFERENT FROM THAT OF OTHER STAFFS

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS PRESENT AND ADDRESS ASSEMBLED ODD FELLOWS—PLANS UNDER WAY FOR BIG MEETING IN COLUMBUS AND IMPERIAL STAFF IS INVITED AS FEATURE FOR ONE DAY—ANOTHER BIG MEETING ON JANUARY 20TH.

Some exceptionally fine work was witnessed at the lodge home of Temple Lodge, I. O. O. F., Tuesday night, when the Majestic degree staff from Central Lodge, Columbus, conferred the first degree upon seventeen candidates in the presence of between 300 and 400 persons.

Visitors from a number of surrounding lodges witnessed the work, and Columbus sent some 75 of those present.

While the work was different in many ways from that of Imperial degree staff, it is reported that it did not surpass the work conferred by the local staff, and that those who witnessed the work still place the work of the Imperial staff in the lead.

The visiting team had the best settings for their work that exist, and are said to be historically correct, being the work of Peter Bellissino, who went to the far east and made sketches upon the spot where the story used is said to have occurred.

Before the work was conferred, all enjoyed a splendid repast spread in the spacious dining hall of the local lodge, and following the work a number of speeches were made, including one from Grand Master H. ... Kuntz, of Zanesville; Grand Secretary C. H. Layman, and one from Dr. Towne, who is captain of the Majestic staff. Several others responded to calls for short talks.

Dr. Towne stated that he is now agitating a two days' convention in Columbus, to be held next spring, and hopes to have 15,000 Odd Fellows present. The Majestic staff will be the feature for one day, and an invitation was extended to the Imperial Degree Staff to confer the rank one day.

January 20th another class of candidates will be given the work here, Imperial staff conferring the degree, and another large gathering of visitors is planned.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS CHAPIN

A large audience heard Benjamin Chapin in his presentation of Lincoln at Grace church Tuesday night, and the clever work of Mr. Chapin in his difficult role was heartily applauded.

Mr. Chapin did not start to speak until nine o'clock, having been detained by a wreck, which caused him to miss connection at Cincinnati, but he was determined to not disappoint local citizens unless it was impossible for him to reach this city, so he boarded the Pennsylvania Flyer for Xenia, wired the committee that he was coming, wired ahead for an automobile at Xenia and made the trip over to this city in good time, considering the condition of the roads.

During the long interval the large audience visited among themselves and waited patiently, ready to greet Mr. Chapin with an outburst of applause when he stepped upon the stage.

However, when he appeared the audience remained as quiet as if the Great Lincoln himself had suddenly stepped out of the tomb and addressed them. For over one hour he pleased the audience with his work, and at times the Lincoln Home was so vividly portrayed that one almost imagined "Mary" was sitting at one end of the table talking to him.

Owing to the length of time that had elapsed before he appeared, Mr. Chapin did not present his full program, but expressed the hope that he might be able to return when wrecks did not interfere.

FORMER PASTOR DIES IN WEST

Washington friends received this week the sad news of the death of Rev. A. E. Johnson, at his home in Alhambra, Cal., the 1st of November. Rev. Johnson is a brother of Rev. M. I. Johnson of the Northeast Ohio Conference, and was pastor of Grace M. E. church in this city about sixteen years ago, being the second minister to occupy the pulpit after the new church was built. He was also presiding elder of the Gallipolis district.

In 1903 Rev. Johnson was transferred to the California Ministerial district where he has since been an efficient worker in Methodist church work until the past year failing health caused him to give up his pastorate.

Although Rev. Johnson filled the local pulpit at Grace church for only one year, being in all health at the time, he formed many warm associations and friends here, especially older members of the congregation will learn of his death with deep regret.

FORMER FAYETTE COUNTIAN DIES

William E. Cook, aged about 65 years, died at the home of his sisters, Mrs. Mary Manly and Diathea Cook, in Chillicothe, Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, after a serious illness of many weeks' duration.

Funeral services will be held at the home of his sisters, Thursday morning and a number of his friends and relatives from this county will attend.

Mr. Cook formerly resided at Cooks Station, and the place was named in his honor. He was a charter member of Vance Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Madison Mills, and always took an active part in lodge affairs.

A few years ago he moved to Crewe, Va., and has lived there until recently, when he went to visit his sisters in Chillicothe and take treatment while there.

He is well known in this city as well as in northern Fayette.

YOUNG WOMAN BADLY INJURED

Miss Janette Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, of Staunton, is suffering from a badly fractured left arm and wrenched shoulder, sustained Tuesday afternoon when she slipped and fell from the veranda of the James Ducey residence in this city, where she was employed as a domestic.

Owing to the serious nature of the fracture the young woman was removed to the Fayette hospital where the fracture was reduced and she was made as comfortable as possible.

Some eight months ago the young woman's father underwent a serious operation at one of the local hospitals and has been unable to work for some time. The young woman was contributing toward the support of the family, but will now be unable to work for weeks and perhaps months.

PHOTOS OF SENSATIONAL AUTO TRIP FROM "THE CAPE TO CAIRO"

Cairo, Egypt, December 10.—To make an auto trip the entire length of Africa sounds like a thoroughly impossible proposition, yet a party of Englishmen and one American have just completed an eventful journey from "the Cape to Cairo." These photos were taken during the trip, which proved one of a highly dangerous character owing to exposure to savage tribes and to fevers and wild animals. The party arrived safely in Cairo, however. Rivers were forded, desert wastes crossed and improvised roads and bridges had to be constructed at different stages of the tour, covering a distance of about 6000 miles.

DIES AFTER FIGHT FOR GIRL

Ex-Pugilist Fatally Beaten in Fist Combat to Win Helen Martin.

St. Louis.—John Moriarity, a former pugilist, died of injuries received in a fist fight with Sergeant Herman Ohler of the United States army in rivalry for the hand of Miss Helen Martin. The girl gave the pair to understand that she would wed the victor and has announced her engagement to Ohler.

Since his retirement from the ring Moriarity had been a confectioner. He fell in love with Miss Martin, who twitted him with having rude ways and remarked several times that he had a rival who was gallant in the extreme. Then she introduced the rivals to each other.

The pugilist remarked in the hearing of the soldier that any one who would drink wine from a woman's slipper was a mollycoddle. Miss Martin said that she believed Ohler would drink wine from her slipper. Ohler immediately essayed thefeat, but the pugilist bumped against him, causing him to spill the wine.

An apology was demanded, and when it was not made the fight was arranged.

Blanks for those who contemplate taking the examination can be obtained at the local postoffice.

LOCALS DEFEAT THE "SENATORS"

VISITORS WHO EXPECTED EASY VICTORY OVER Y. M. C. A. TEAM LAST NIGHT ARE EASILY DEFEATED BY 31 TO 16 SCORE—BRADYS BOOKED FOR DECEMBER 27TH, AND TEAM IS COMPOSED OF STAR PROFESSIONALS.

Defeated at every stage of the game, the Columbus "Senators" returned home Tuesday night to nurse a drubbing of 31 to 16, and are wiser than when they stepped upon the floor at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening to defeat the frisky "Y" team.

A fair sized crowd witnessed the game and heartily applauded the local team as point after point was piled up in rapid succession until the "Senators" were completely worn out with their efforts to prevent themselves from being tied to the small end of the score.

From start to finish the "Y" team had things very much their way, defeating the "Senators" at every turn, and outclassing them throughout the game.

Right off the reel the local team piled up more than a half dozen points without permitting the visitors to do a thing except try to prevent the fast playing. Each member of the "Y" team played a star game and while the playing of the visitors was good, they were simply "not in it" with their fast opponents.

The visitors picked up somewhat at the eleventh hour, but it was then a hopeless task, and they were again held down before their score had climbed to any extent.

Another game will probably be played with the "Senators", and a much different line-up is expected when they again show up for battle.

Saturday night, December 27th the local team will meet an old opponent—the Bradys—from Xenia, and one of the hottest games of the season is predicted.

The Bradys are getting in trim for the season, and have chosen Thomas McClellan, captain and Fred Shultz, manager. McClellan was the star forward of Antioch last year.

All of the old members are ready to try out, and two new recruits are in line—McClellan and Ray Johnson. Johnson was captain of the Muskingum College team last year, and will probably win a place on the team, so that when the "Y" team meets the bunch they will have professionals to deal with, and most of the professionals' star players.

KEITH'S THEATER

To celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the date when Mr. B. F. Keith founded vaudeville, the B. F. Keith theater of Columbus will offer a bill made up of twelve acts. It will be of interest to readers to know that Mr. B. F. Keith was born at Hillsboro Ridge, N. H., and that he left home and began to make his own way in the world when he was but seven years of age. He was seventeen when he saw his first show. That gave him an idea—an idea, which developed into a great chain of theaters which have made Mr. Keith both rich and famous.

Just thirty years ago, Mr. Keith rented an empty store-room in Boston where he exhibited "Baby Alice," who weighed just twenty ounces. The women and children of Boston were willing to pay a dime to see this wonderful babe.

When the people of Boston grew tired of Baby Alice, Mr. Keith secured other attractions and kept his store-house theater open all day and until late in the evening. Soon he rented a larger place and established the continuous vaudeville on a firmer basis. City after city was glad to welcome Mr. Keith when he came to purchase houses and establish Keith vaudeville.

By the magic of his genius, Mr. B. F. Keith has made vaudeville the most popular form of entertainment America or the world has ever known. The name of B. F. Keith stands for vaudeville just as Morgan means money, Carnegie means steel or Armour is synonymous with beef. Today more people attend vaudeville than any other form of amusement because they like it best.

Surely, for all this, it is fitting that the patrons celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the day Mr. Keith set about to make so many people happy. Among the acts which will grace the Anniversary bill at B. F. Keith's Columbus theater, will be Homer Miles in "On the Edge of Things"; B. A. Rolfe's "Arcadia" a great musical act; Ladie Cliff, Riesner and Gores; Moore and Youngs; Chas. L. Fletcher, and a score of others well worth while.

THE OLD RELIABLE

"Either" and "Neither." There are two or three things about these two words that one should remember. In the first place, they should never be used in connection with more than two things—as: "It was either Tuesday or Wednesday," not "either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday;" "It was neither Tuesday nor Wednesday," not "neither Tuesday, Wednesday nor Thursday." Then, either should not be used in the sense of each, as "they walked on, one on either side of the road." It should be one on "each" side of the road. The third caution is about the pronunciation. Some persons insist that they should be pronounced "e-ther" and "in-ther," with the "i" long. But this is more an affectionation perhaps than anything else. The best authorities agree that the right pronunciation is "e-ther" and "ne-ther."—New York World.

AUDITOR HENKLE HAS BIG TASK

Auditor Henkle is now engaged in preparing an abstract of all of the real property in Fayette county to certify over to District Assessor J. C. Dunn, and he will have several months work before the big abstract is completed.

Not only must every one of the 9000 pieces of realty be certified, but the work of separating the buildings from the land is one of the features of the work, and some 3000 realty transfers, made within the past three years, must be examined and the realty changing hands certified accordingly.

The task is a large one, but Auditor Henkle and his assistants are now busily engaged in the work, which was started first of this week. Just as soon as the work is well under way Mr. Dunn and assistants will take up the end of the task which falls to his department.

The assessors are to commence their work on February 2nd.

BRIDE-TO-BE IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

As a result of sleeping in a tight room where a gas stove without a flue was burning, Mrs. L. B. Hart, 74, of Columbus is dead and Miss Barbara Hart, 24, and Miss Rachel Hart, 22, are still in a very critical condition in the Grant hospital, at Columbus.

Local interest is increased in the sad event by the fact that Dr. Edgar Allen, a former Washington boy, a son of Mr. Willis Allen and a cousin of Mr. Howard Allen, is to marry Miss Rachel Hart on Dec. 27.

Mr. Willis Allen now resides in Chillicothe, and Dr. Edgar M. Allen is a resident of Columbus. Dr. Allen was born in this city, and is well known here. His bride-to-be has been living at Cartersville, Mo., and arrived in Columbus a few days ago to prepare for the coming wedding.

Both of the young women are still in a serious condition.

TONIGHT 'THE VILLAGE POSTOFFICE'

One of the big hits of the season will be "The Village Postoffice," at the Empire Opera House tonight, and a large attendance is assured.

In this laughable production the roles are all filled by local talent, some of whom have delighted the public on many occasions hitherto. All are good and there is in store for the public an evening of the keenest enjoyment.

The "show" is under the auspices of the Epworth league of Grace church and the direction of Miss Esther Land.

Seats will be on sale at Baldwin's Drug store until 6:50 this evening, after which the plat will be taken to the boxoffice at the Empire.

JUNK AND WILLETT STORE OPENS SOON

Workmen have been engaged in working a wonderful transformation in the room soon to be occupied by the Junk and Willett Hardware Co., in the Odd Fellows' temple, and oak fixtures are being installed throughout the big room, while a handsome office is being constructed in the rear of the room.

The store will open for business in the near future, the large stock of hardware having been purchased and is now on the road. The store will be under the management of Mr. Junk, and will be one of the best equipped in this part of Ohio.

A Sunset in Scotland. It was a sunset of strange tints that evening, a background of clouds of deep violet tipped with crimson. The sky, of the very palest blue, had been turned by the brightness of the sun into lake of silver, in which floated small fleecy cloudlets of brilliant rose pink, like islets floating in a crystal sea. The rays of the sun behind the purple clouds threw long shafts of dazzling brightness, which tipped the dark background with silver as the sun kisses the petals of a daisy. Every peak in the long range of mountains on the west was rose tipped, but the highest of them all towered clear and cone shaped in the distance, glistening in a shimmering mantle of silver and pale blue, as if the sky had wrapped it round its own cerulean color.—A Garden of Spices, by A. Keith Fraser.

A VICTIM OF NEEDLE GANG

Cleveland, O., Dec. 10.—Police and government officers here are searching for two men believed to be members of the New York poison needle gang, who are alleged to have attacked George Baker of New York, said to be a United States immigration inspector, and robbed him of valuable government papers while he was under the influence of the drug. The victim, who is said to have been conducting a white slave probe here, was walking down Lakeside avenue when he was suddenly taken ill. Two men, who had evidently been following him, rushed forward and carried him into Lakeside hospital near by. While physicians were reviving Baker his supposed friends picked up his baggage and fled. Two government papers, supposed to be reports on white slave conditions in this city, were in the bag.

Admits He Forged Notes.

Delaware, O., Dec. 10.—A letter postmarked Portland, Ore., addressed to the editor of a local newspaper, brought a purported confession from Walter Glenn, a young farmer, who says he fled to escape what he believed to be imminent prosecution for forged notes. Glenn ascribes his fall to hard luck with his farm. No one knew of Glenn's flight until the letter was received.

No Interleague Games.

New York, Dec. 10.—There will be no interleague games between the International league and the American association next season. The International league men put the proposition to a vote and defeated it.

NOTED BALL PLAYER AND MANAGER WHO SAYS HE WAS "FIRED" UNFAIRLY

JOE TINKER

Cincinnati, December 10.—It has been officially announced by the board of directors of the Cincinnati Baseball club that Joe Tinker, shortstop and manager of the Reds, would not lead the next team during the season of 1914. Inability to come to terms with Tinker is given as the reason for reaching the conclusion. The officials of the club gave out the following statement: "The officers and directors of the Cincinnati Exhibition company desire to announce that they could not come to a satisfactory agreement with Mr. Tinker to act as Cincinnati, O., Dec. 10.—Because two strangers have been following them, T. C. Simpson and C. Z. Mikesell, Butler county liquor license commissioners, requested the state board to give them protection. Detectives were dispatched to Hamilton to guard the two men. Mikesell says when he came to Cincinnati he was followed by two strangers. Both Simpson and Mikesell say that they have been threatened by saloonkeepers who were refused licenses. The board closed 35 saloons in Butler county.

MILK THAT WOULDN'T SOUR

J. A. Spears of Clinton county, Ohio, started 25 years ago with two cows to build up a herd of dairy cattle.

Now he has 53 head of selected milk cows and many head of promising young stock coming on. While he has been building up his herd, Mr. Spears has also done everything possible to make conditions sanitary in and around his stables and other places where the milk has to be handled. How well he succeeded is brought out in a story of the loss of one of his customers.

By milking through cotton and cheese cloth Mr. Spears has been able to keep milk sweet for 17 days in an ordinary spring-house without the use of any ice or preservatives.

A customer, who lived in one of the nearby towns, wanting to use some sour milk for culinary purposes, set a bottle of milk from this dairy outside her ice chest, thinking that it would sour over night. When she found in the morning that the milk was not sour, she took Mr. Spears to task for using preservatives, remarking that she was accustomed to getting pure milk, the kind that would sour over night. As the result of the episode, she refused to buy further of him because she firmly believed he was producing impure milk.

In reality, he was producing milk of such high grade that it would not sour even under unfavorable conditions in such a short period as one or two days.

Arkansas Take Hand.

Fort Smith, Ark.—With the temperature hovering about the century mark and the dust six inches deep at places, 500 business and professional men of Van Buren and Crawford counties, with 200 teams, built a five mile macadamized road between Van Buren and Figure Five, the first link in the forty-five mile pike to be built by like methods between this city and Winslow. Men of professions and letters worked side by side with a large number of city and county prisoners, who earned their liberty by putting in the day with the pick and shovel.

New York, December 10.—Dr. Maria Montessori, the eminent Italian authority on and trainer and educator of children, has come to the United States to lecture and to raise funds to carry on her work in Rome on a larger scale than ever before. Dr. Montessori believes that great advances can be made by the human race by handling children between the ages of one and a half years and seven along the lines she suggests. She was entertained at the White House by President Wilson. Many noted people attended a luncheon in her honor in New York city. She cannot speak a word of English.
